Manuel V. Flores is a founding member of the Hispanic Genealogical Society of Houston which was founded in 1981. Manuel will share the history of many organizations especially in Texas with information about the founding members, their inspiration and their goals researching Hispanic heritage and its contribution to American history. One goal of all the groups was teaching beginning researchers how to trace their family roots in what is today Mexico and Texas. Manuel is a retired engineer from AT&T and a proud military veteran having served his country in the United States Air Force as a Russian linguist. We are excited to hear his insights into the background of our and other vibrant and important organizations.
